

Kyle Hauptman

Kyle Hauptman serves as the Vice Chairman of the National Credit Union Administration (NCUA). He has served in this position since December 2020 after being nominated by the President and confirmed by the U.S. Senate. Prior to joining the NCUA Board, Kyle served as Senator Tom Cotton's (R-Arkansas) advisor on economic policy, as well as Staff Director of the Senate Banking Committee's Subcommittee on Economic Policy. Kyle was Senior Vice President at Jefferies & Co and worked as a bond trader at Lehman Brothers in NYC, Tokyo, and Sydney. He also served as a voting member on the Securities and Exchange Commission's Advisory Committee on Small and Emerging Companies. Kyle served on President Trump's transition team in 2016 and was Senator Mitt Romney's (R-Utah) policy advisor for financial services during the 2012 presidential campaign. Kyle holds an MBA from Columbia Business School and a bachelor's degree from UCLA.

Daniela Muhaj

Daniela Muhaj is the inaugural Associate Director for Research and Technology Initiatives at Georgetown University, where she leads efforts in innovative research and technology to shape global business practices, with a focus on business for good. Additionally, she serves as the Chair of the Global Fellows Program for AI 2030, an organization dedicated to the responsible and ethical development of artificial intelligence. She is also a research affiliate with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) Computer Science and Artificial Intelligence Lab (CSAIL), conducting research on trends in emerging technologies and their impact on productivity, economic growth, and shared prosperity. With a decade of experience in applied economic research, impact evaluations, and development policy across various institutions, geographies, and stakeholders, Daniela has built a multifaceted career. She has held positions at the Central Bank of Slovenia, the International Monetary Fund, Harvard University's Center for International Development, MIT's Abdul Latif Jameel Poverty Action Lab (J-PAL), and most recently, Amazon Web Services (AWS). As a Senior Manager at AWS, she led the original research portfolio on the environmental, social, and economic impacts of cloud computing services and infrastructure. Before joining AWS, she was a Policy and Research Manager at J-PAL at MIT, focusing on role of the private sector in economic development. Her notable achievements include being selected as a G20 Young Global Changer in 2019, contributing to the Berlin Global Solutions Summit, and presenting research on economic inequality at a G20 Tokyo event. Daniela earned her Master's in International Economics and Relations from the Johns Hopkins University School of Advanced International Studies (SAIS). She also holds a dual Bachelor of Science in Mathematical Economics and a Bachelor of Arts in International Studies from Baldwin Wallace University, graduating summa cum laude.

Timur Turlov

Mr. Turlov has more than 10 years of experience in various areas of the international securities industry. From May 2012 through January 2013, Mr. Turlov served as the Chairman of the Board of Directors of JSC Nomad Finance, where he oversaw the business setup and acquisition of large clients. From July 2013 to July 2017, Mr. Turlov served as the Advisor to the Chairman of the Board of Freedom Finance JSC. In that capacity, Mr. Turlov was primarily responsible for strategic management, public and investor relations events, investment and sales strategy, and government relations. In July 2017, Mr. Turlov became Chairman of the Board of Directors of Freedom Finance JSC (Almaty, Kazakhstan). Since July 2014, Mr. Turlov has served as a President at Freedom Securities Trading Inc. (Belize), where he carries out the general management of the company, elaborates the development strategy, and controls the cash flow within the company. Currently, Mr. Turlov is a Member of YPO Kazakhstan (Young Presidents Organisation), which unites young businessmen and top managers from all over the world. Also, he is President of the Kazakhstan Chess Federation, President of the Kazakhstan Football Federation and a participant of the IQanat educational project. Today Timur Turlov is a Member and a Chairman of the Board of Directors in Life Insurance Company "Freedom Finance Insurance" JSC, Insurance Company "Freedom Finance Life" JSC, "Bank Freedom Finance Kazakhstan" JSC, Kcell JSC. He owns interests in other businesses, including other securities brokerage firms.

Oliver Wuensch

Oliver Wuensch, is a Partner at Oliver Wyman, where his clients include a number of central banks and finance policymakers that rely on him for advice to address large-scale transformations and high-impact crises. He began his career in finance at a leading global investment bank. However, after this traditional start, his career path took an unconventional turn. He went back to academia to do a PhD in Economics focusing on financial crime policy. When the Great Financial Crisis" hit in 2007, he joined the Swiss administration where he worked on bank rescue operations and revamping international financial policy for the post-crisis world. He went on to Washington D.C. to join a multilateral financial institution, where he led rescue efforts for European countries severely impacted by the sovereign debt crisis. "Many aspects of my work related to once-in-a-lifetime situations, spanning several countries and cultures and involving complex negotiations with many stakeholders, including national leaders engaged in high-stakes power politics," he explains.